Overview

Brazil's solar capacity is projected to significantly increase, with a market potential of USD 11 billion by 2040. Government incentives include tax exemptions and attractive financing options for solar investments. Solar energy in Brazil surpassed the 55 GW milestone in March 2025, more than doubling its photovoltaic (PV) count in the last few years. That breakneck expansion is reshaping Brazil's energy security, sharpening its industrial competitiveness and putting its 2030 climate pledges within reach. This activity marks a substantial 65% increase in transacted capacity compared to the same period in 2024, according to a. New solar power plants in Brazil are being actively financed and built, gradually replacing fossil fuels and providing investors with impressive economic benefits. Global solar manufacturers and utilities are positioned to capture growth from Brazil's expanding energy needs.
