

Nigeria Energy Storage System Project

Overview

The African Development Bank (AfDB) has approved a $1.2 million grant to support the development of a battery energy storage system (BESS) in Nigeria, a move seen as critical to stabilising the nation's power grid and accelerating renewable energy integration. The result is a gradual re-architecture of how power is generated, managed and consumed. It said the project will assess grid integration, identify viable business and regulatory models to attract investment, and build the capacity. President Bola Tinubu has disclosed that the Nigeria-Grid Battery Energy Storage System will benefit from a planned $500 million facility from the African Development Bank (AfDB). Tinubu added that the system will provide electricity to 2 million Nigerians.
